

Descriptions of “Introductory” and “Advanced” Levels

Introductory Level: The workshop provides a general overview of the topic by exploring principles and definitions. This level is suitable for individuals with little exposure to the topic and provides a solid framework for understanding intermediate or advanced level workshops later on.

Advanced Level: This level implies that the workshop covers the specific topic intensively and is focused on applying acquired knowledge. The instruction style combines intermediate level knowledge with component breakdowns, specific usage scenarios, examples and hands-on exercises to ensure concepts are well understood. This level is suitable for individuals with previous work experience with the topic.
